CLASSIC TRACTOR FEVER

Preserving American Agricultural History is Part of Our Future.

Celebrating
30 YEARS

Welcome

WELCOME TO THE 2019 CLASSIC TRACTOR FEVER CATALOG – OUR 30TH YEAR!

Since 1990, John Harvey's The Original Classic Farm Tractors Calendar has set the standard by which all other classic tractor calendars are compared. By featuring both common and rare, restored and still-original classic tractors, this calendar is a showcase and celebration of American agricultural history.

Throughout the years, the calendar has showcased more than 530 brands and models of farm tractors and machinery in becoming the most recognized and requested classic tractor calendar on the market while building a large and loyal following.

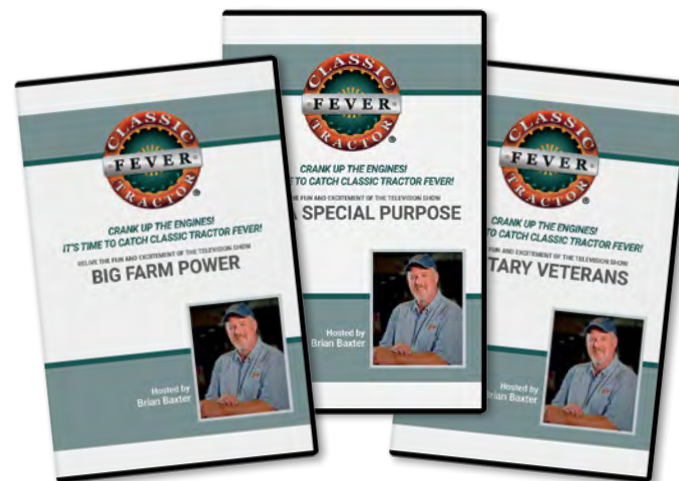

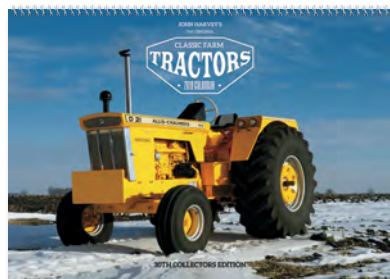

“More than 530 brands and models of farm tractors and machinery...”

The 2019 calendar – the 30th collectible edition – continues that tradition: the tractors featured span more than a half-century of agricultural history and come from across the US and Canada. None of the specific models in this year's calendar have ever appeared in previous editions of the calendar.

Our video library continues to expand: we now have more than fifty DVDs dedicated to the collection and restoration of classic farm and garden tractors and machinery – and are THE source for classic tractor DVDs.

As you browse our new catalog you may notice we've re-designed, re-organized and added several new products customers have requested. We always welcome comments and suggestions from our customers, so send them in!

We're proud to announce our relationship with RFD-TV ensures our programming will continue to be aired through 2020, so be sure to tune in each week to catch Classic Tractor Fever!

Watch CLASSIC TRACTOR FEVER on RFD-TV this Fall

2017 marked our return to producing a full season of new episodes. Produced at our new studio location at Aumann Auctions, we revived some of the old favorite segments while introducing new featured stories. See page 8 for more details on individual episodes and pricing.

- Watch for new Season 2 episodes on RFD-TV starting in October 2018
- NEW Partnership with Aumann Auctions to gather more classic tractor stories and share insider tips for collectors including NEW features such as – Guess the Price: see what classic tractors actually sold for at recent auctions.

Brian Baxter, producer and host of Classic Tractor Fever, has worked to promote the preservation of America's agricultural history, classic farm tractors and machinery for more than 20 years. Brian's grandfather and Uncle farmed with Farmall, Ford and Oliver tractors. After nine years as a television farm broadcaster, Brian began producing Classic Tractor Fever in 1997. In that role, Brian has interviewed collectors from across the United States as they've shared their passion, knowledge and personal stories. Classic Tractor Fever has covered tractors and tractor shows from coast-to-coast, and even covered a classic tractor plow day in Alaska.

Vintage Farm Tractor Brand Banners

A most popular addition to the Classic Tractor Fever product offerings, these banners feature historically-accurate reproduction vintage brand logos and advertising signage from the past. These banners are printed digitally on heavyweight outdoor vinyl using sun and water-resistance inks. Most banners are 22" x 30" and come with hanging grommets in each corner, but we can custom make your own banner to fit your size needs, or adding a name, location or other information.

For complete up-to-date selection and pricing of Vintage Farm Tractor Banners, please visit our website or email ClassicTractorFever@yahoo.com

Vintage Garden Tractor Brand Banners

Banners make great gifts for the collector to proclaim their favorite brand – or brands! Hang in the garage, workshop, or trailer, or display along with your tractor at show or other events. See our website for additional details including more designs, pricing and updated availability. Banners are mailed via USPS, rolled in sturdy mailing tubes to avoid damage.

These are just a few of the banners we carry: we also design and print custom, on-demand banners, so if you don't see your favorite brand, just ask!

For complete up-to-date selection and pricing of Vintage Garden Tractor Banners, please visit our website or email ClassicTractorFever@yahoo.com
